BROADWAY THEATER.

"The Little Terror."

The new play selected for the starring vehicle of Cecil Spooner this season is "The Little Terror." Originally published in Harper's Weekly as a short story and under the authorship of Fitz James McCarthy, Miss Amelia Wood Hollis saw the wonderful possibilities for a successful play with the story presented, and with the consent of the author and the publishers she has written for Miss Spooner's use a comedy that the critics are unanimous in regarding as one of the greatest stage comedies of the past decade. The theme is one that not only catches the interest of the audience at once, but it holds from the rise of the first to the fall of the final curtain, its characters have been drawn by a master hand, a keen imagination and a thorough understanding with the subject in view has enabled Miss Hollis to give to the play more real heart interest and sterling worth than is to be found in the ordinary drama. Manager Charles E. Blaney has truly given this play the best scenic investiture of great successes and has personally supervised all preliminary rehearsals, so that an absolutely correct performance of "The Little Terror" may be expected Wednesday, Sept. 28, when the play will be seen for the first time here at the Broadway theater.

BREED THEATER.

Augmented Musical Forces. Proves Genuine Attraction.

Out of the many attractions of last evening, the Breed theater was as well attended as any, and the audience was the most enthusiastic one, giving the new musical combination a splendid welcome. Mr. Fred Clark, the new drummer, is kept very busy producing effects for the very excellent pictures, and the result is all that could be desired, the pictures being materially strengthened and improved by them. The bell solo between the reels was a delightful number, and the audience insisted upon its repetition. The great feature of the bill is the picture, "The Yellow Jacket Mine," and is easily one of the most picturesque and interesting ones ever seen. The great race between a southern steamer and a pursuing husband on horseback on shore is but one of the thrilling scenes, and the great climax coming when the steamer is set on fire, and is slowly burning, as it sails down the river. Certainly one of the most ambitious songs attempted in a long time is the beautiful aria of Verdi's, entitled "Ah, I Have Sighed to Rest Me," as rendered by Miss Grace Alwin, the dramatic soprano of the Breed.

The czar of Russia is richer by many millions today than he ever was before. Prof. Glanville, the famous Russian chemist, has demonstrated to the St. Petersburg academy of sciences that the waters of Druzhenka Lake and the hundreds of square miles of marshy land surrounding it are brimful of radium. This discovery is expected to reduce the price of radium materially. The lake and surrounding territory are the private property of the czar.

YOUNGEST HORSE THIEF

Reaches Meriden Reform School—Aged 6, Stole Six Rigs in Two Weeks.

The Meriden Records says: The youngest horse thief in the world has recently been received in the Connecticut school for boys to remain until his majority. He is but six years of age and his record is that he stole six rigs in two weeks and after being placed on probation stole two more in one forenoon.

This youthful "bad man" belongs in the peaceful village of Torrington and is named Willie Michaels. Willie was under the charge of Probation Officer A. H. Wilcox, who formerly lived in this city and was engaged in Y. M. C. A. work.

Neither the probation officer nor the lad's parents could do anything with him, and early this week he was taken before Judge Walter Holcomb, who saw nothing to do but to send him to the state school.

The juvenile horse thief is the youngest member of Superintendent Williams' large family, which now numbers 450. Seldom if ever has a child as young as he been sent to the school.
